The bouquets were those brought by members and those contributed by the churches from the Children's day offering, 160 all told. Mrs. Gratton was superintendent of the distribution and the ladies of the various committees were Mrs. Scholer, Mrs. Crowl, Mrs. Mole, Mrs. Tait, Mrs. Charbon, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Lummis, Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Whitson. The hospitals, jails and houses of the sick poor were visited, and no doubt the calls of the ladies seemed to the recipients of the bouquets like unto those of ministering angels. To each bouquet was attached a scriptural text, and if the reporter may be allowed to mention it, one addressed to the player of Jessie Snell bore the text commencing with "Though your sins be as scarlet."

STRUCK BY FORTUNE.

One of the Memphis Men Who Drew Fifteen Thousand Dollars.

Stories of sudden or miraculous wealth have always possessed a peculiar fascination for the masses, and the man who has drawn a prize in a lottery is regarded as the happy mortal.

At the last drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery two Memphis men drew $15,000 each. One of these was Mr. J. Dorsey, who has been a forerunner of many who have won the prizes of the Louisiana State Lottery.

He was living in humble circumstances at 33 Jackson street. An avalanche reporter yesterday had curiosity to see the man who had drawn the $15,000, so he repaired to the corner of Jackson and Dorsey street, and inquired of some children who Dorsey lived.

"You mean the man that drew the lottery prize?" asked one of them.

"Yes," replied the reporter.

"He's moved away. He used to live in that little house over there, but he's gone to live in a fine house in Fort Pickering now."

The reporter greatly marvelled and went to the house pointed out to him, and asked a man there if Dorsey still lived there.

"No," was the reply. "You see he drew part of the big prize in the Louisiana State Lottery, and he wants more stylish quarters. He's got the money and I guess he's happy."

Mr. Dorsey is said to be a man in every way deserving the good luck that has been thrust upon him by chance. —Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche, June 4.

Enforce the Ordinances.

To the Editor of THE BEE.

The residents of the western part of the city are very indignant on account of depredations of cattle which are supposed to be under charge of herders but, as a matter of fact, wander about at their own sweet will, destroying fences, shrubbery and flower beds. Our city ordinances prohibit stock running at large in the streets, and these ordinances should be enforced. B.
